The Miami Office replied with its own observations noting that the analysis of the Los Angeles Office clearly indicated that there are continuing contacts between professional gamblers throughout the U. S., and Miami agreed that the use of a control file to coordinate reports re these professional gamblers is an excellent suggestion.

Re Milwaukee's suggestion of a "Gambling Intelligence Digest", it is noted that the Miami Office, under the caption "Crime Conditions in the Miami Division; AR", on a semi-annual basis submits reports. Under the heading "Individual Racketeers and Gamblers", Miami regularly reports a summary of the activities of known professional gamblers and their associates. Other major offices also submit similar reports and it is believed with wider dissemination this program already adopted by the Bureau can serve as a digest re the activities of these professional gamblers. It is possible that the Bureau may desire to integrate their crime condition reporting program with suggestions made by Milwaukee and Los Angeles.

The Bureau has specifically ordered intensified investigations and provides a method of correlating these investigations by use of long distance telephone calls made by the principal gambling figures in the U. S.

Re the observation made by the Milwaukee Office that investigation of small bookmakers is unproductive, it is believed that this is false inasmuch as the small bookmaker is the arm of the major gambling figures in this country. To develop top echelon informants, the small bookmaker offers an opportunity to penetrate and determine the activities and associates of the big-time gamblers with whom the small-time bookmaker is dependent upon for his information and may desire his capitol.

Re the suggestion by the Milwaukee Office that a summary of informant information be prepared on the administrative pages of a substantive report, it is observed that to date informant information has not become so great in volume that it dictates a separate summary under the administrative pages.

Re Milwaukee letter to Bureau, 11/13/64 and Bureau airtel dated 12/3/64.

The suggestions of the Milwaukee Office, which are set out in Milwaukee letter to Bureau dated November 13, 1964, have been reviewed by the Agents handling gambling matters in this office. These Agents are of the opinion that the suggestion of the Milwaukee Office, as set out in Section 6, under A, B, C, and D, is very good and should be adopted. It is their opinion that the monthly "Gambling Intelligence Digest" should be assigned to a major field office to prepare. It was also the opinion of these Agents that the suggestion contained in Section 7, Page 4, should not be adopted, due to the fact that the running summary on the administrative pages of a report would perhaps become too cumbersome.

Re Bureau airtel, dated 12/3/64.

It is the belief of Agents handling ITWI matters at Las Vegas, that there is a definite need for a central clearing house of information regarding the bookmaking industry. The present pursuit of uncorrelated and uncoordinated cases by individual offices precludes the formation of a composite picture of the industry as such.

As has previously been submitted, a centralized index system of telephone numbers cross indexed with the identities of bookies using such numbers would present a picture of the nationwide activity.

As an example of the problem, investigation of the case of [redacted] ITWI (OO: Detroit), revealed contact with [redacted] aka: ITWI (OO: Las Vegas), who in turn is in contact with [redacted] ITWI (OO: Boston.) Further investigation of [redacted] showed him to be in contact with the same [redacted]

b6

Another example is the action of [redacted]

[redacted]
[redacted] where investigation reveals [redacted]

b6
b7C

It is readily apparent that pursuit of one individual case by a given division overlaps into investigation of other individual cases in several divisions, and at no point is there a correlation of the over-all actions by these several individuals which would portray the nation-wide industry.

The present pursuit of these individual cases constitutes a disorganized attack against single targets spread over a wide field whereas what is needed is a concerted action against the nation-wide industry itself.

Bookmaking cannot function without its line or odds information, handicapping experts, and bankroll men. Severance of the information necessary to place wagers or balance a bookmakers line; or of the bankroll behind a bookmaker would break the back of the industry and reduce the hangers-on to sporadic localized small-time pocket bookies.

The following observations are made with regard to the suggestions in Milwaukee letter to the Bureau, dated 11/13/64:

LV 165-336

1. The receipt of information regarding the operation of any bookmaker should justify sufficient inquiry to secure background and evaluate the extent of his activity. As soon as it can be resolved that he does not have sufficient stature to warrant intensified investigation as to his place in the national industry, the case should be closed allowing more Agent time for the concentration on the major targets.

2. As pointed out above, it is agreed that the major target should be the lines and bankrolls. The bankrolls reach into the organized gambling or syndicated operations and feed off the efforts of the small-time bookie who lays-off to them. From the small-time bookies (as in "1" above) come the informant potentials. Hence it is felt that the small-timers should be pursued only until their connection, if any, with the big bankrolls can be established.

3. & 4. As summarized above, it is also agreed that there is "fragmentation" under the present procedures, and no over-all picture is developed.

5. It is also agreed that a control file in each office is not the answer, and that an effort of this type would result in excessive paper work of such volume as to be unworkable.

With regard to the suggestion of a "monthly digest" this would be of considerable assistance for intelligence purposes if kept concise; however, submission of information for such a digest and preparation of same entails further paper work rather than alleviation of this problem in the field.

It is, therefore, submitted that a more direct attack on the national bookmaking empire could be made by Bureau direction as a result of a correlation of national bookmaking aimed at the over-all industry. Implementation of the automatic data processing equipment to record and coordinate information as to the phones used by various bookmakers should show the network on a national scale. (On the contrary efforts by individual offices to maintain records showing a correlation between one investigation with several others, becomes inadequate because of the lack of information regarding the additional contacts of the subject of investigation by an auxiliary office which do not pertain to original matter under investigation.)

Under this procedure each office would submit telephone data and names of key targets to the coordinating desk at the Bureau, which would in turn advise the submitting office of matters under investigation by other offices relating to these individuals or the phone numbers.

BURKE is a hairdresser, owning his own shop in Chelsea, Massachusetts, and he was formerly employed as a dancer. BURKE stated that on many occasions he has permitted friends to make use of his apartment which is Apartment E35 at the above address.

Having formerly been on the stage, he is acquainted with many people in show business who are frequent visitors to Boston. He permits the use of his apartment by these people without any questions; however, during the evening and night-time hours the apartment is occupied only by him and his roommate, GARY HOPKINS. He has no knowledge of his apartment's having been used for gambling activities nor does he know of any extensive use of his telephone for gambling activities.

BURKE stated that his telephone number is 884-1733, a non-published number and that he formerly had telephone number 884-3156. He changed from the latter number because of the many phone calls he was receiving and because of the fact that he desired to break off with some of his friends.

He is not acquainted with [redacted] and when shown a photograph of [redacted] could not identify him. He does not know anyone who drives a blue Galaxie who might have been a visitor to his apartment or to the building. He has no knowledge of gambling activities having been conducted through use of his telephone.

MATTERS PENDING PROSECUTION OVER 6 MONTHS,
MILWAUKEE DIVISION

Re Manual of Rules and Regulations, Part II, Section 3, Page 29.

Enclosed herewith are three copies of a list of pending criminal cases, Milwaukee origin, pending over one year as of 9-15-64, and criminal matters pending prosecution for more than 6 months as of 12-15-65.

The Bureau is advised that there appear to have been no unreasonable delays in the handling of prosecutions, and it is specifically pointed out that those cases which have been delayed within the Western District of Wisconsin were occasioned by the fact that the Federal Judgeship has been vacant over an extended period of time. A U. S. District Judge has now been appointed, and it is anticipated that the criminal docket will be cleared within a minimum of delay.

On January 19, 1966, Assistant United States Attorney [REDACTED] Eastern District of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, advised that it does not appear as though the subject, SIDNEY A. b6
b7C

A review has been made of reports submitted in connection with your investigation of Sidney A. Brodson. While it appears that he is not presently operating in violation of the ITWI Statute, it is suggested that an IGA case on Brodson be opened and his activities be followed on a continuing basis, unless some reason to the contrary exists, in which event the Bureau should be advised.

It is believed that Brodson's status in the gambling field, his past activities, his ability to supply line information with respect to sporting events and his wide acquaintance with gambling circles in the U. S. makes it mandatory that we continue to closely follow his activities.

On 10/24/68 the unidentified body of a murdered man was found in an 18th floor hotel room of the Sheraton Schroeder Hotel by Milwaukee police. The individual was subsequently identified as WILBUR JOSEPH MC CAULLEY, JR., escapee from a Mich. prison who had been living in Milwaukee under the alias of ARTHUR BRYAN. Subsequent investigation under Milwaukee file 91-2975 reflects that BRYAN had been involved in several bank robberies since his escape from the Mich. prison. Information developed that BRYAN was a prolific gambler but there was no information to indicate that BRYAN was operating a bookmaking activity.

On 10/13/68 [redacted] advised SAs [redacted] and [redacted] that MERSCHDORF [redacted] until November, 1967. He characterized MERSCHDORF as a conscientious employee and he could furnish no information re MERSCHDORF being involved in gambling activities. [redacted] indicated that he met JOHN MORN on a few occasions and he knew MORN to be fairly friendly with [redacted] and MERSCHDORF. It was his understanding they were partners in the Rutt Tavern which was destroyed by fire on 8/31/68.

On 11/13/68 PETER MERSCHDORF, 8533 W. Greenfield, furnished the following information to SAs [redacted] and [redacted]:

b6

He and [redacted] started the Rutt Tavern early this year at 7127 W. National Ave. They leased the building for $275 per month from [redacted]. He met ARTHUR BRYAN at The Interns and he saw BRYAN on several occasions. In June or July, 1968, BRYAN approached him and wanted to enter into partnership with him (BRYAN) and JOHN MORN joining KUSCH and himself. They contacted their attorney JOSEPH BALISTRIERI and BALISTRIERI handled the incorporation.

b6
b7C

MERSCHDORF has known JOHN MORN many years but he did not know MORN and BRYAN were friends. MORN and BRYAN were to contribute $8,000 a piece with an initial contribution of $2,250 each. The money was to be used to purchase the building at 8533 W. Greenfield Ave., where they are constructing a pizza parlor called Nero's.

MI 162-281

MORN is handling the construction work.

On 9/28/68 there was a fire at the Rutt Tavern and the West Allis PD suspect arson. They do not plan to open the Rutt Tavern due to the extensive damage and their present plans are to operate the pizza parlor.

MERSCHDORF indicated ART BRYAN was not a particularly big operator. BRYAN spent a substantial amount of time at the Rutt, Joey Lee's [redacted] the Club Las Vegas MERSCHDORF did not know BRYAN to be a gambler but knew that BRYAN went to Las Vegas with [redacted] on one occasion. MERSCHDORF stated that he understands JOHN MORN to be a gambler but he has never placed bets with MORN and has not known anyone who has bet with MORN. MERSCHDORF stated that neither he nor [redacted] are gamblers and that there was never any gambling at the Rutt Tavern.

Informant advised that FRANK BALISTRIERI is spreading the word that he got a bad deal from the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, who turned down his appeal for his 1967 income tax conviction. He stated BALISTRIERI is desperate to figure out any way possible to prevent his having to serve a jail sentence. He had even talked about the possibility of "getting to" some of the Appeal Court judges; however, informant said BALISTRIERI did not know anyone who had any connections with these judges.

Informant indicated that JIMMY JENNARO was called in before the Milwaukee Licensing Commission because of the fact he resided outside the city limits of Milwaukee and was listed as holder of the liquor license at FRANK BALISTRIERI's Ad Lib Club. [redacted] was substituted as the liquor licensee as a result of the hearing.

WILBUR
Informant advised he had received information that JOSEPH MC CAULLEY, whose murdered body was recently found in a Milwaukee hotel, had owed JOHN MORN, known Milwaukee bookmaker, $12,000 on lost bets with MORN before he was murdered.

b7D

Informant noted that FRANK BALISTRERI has utilized a number of female impersonators as entertainers at his Ad Lib Club and these entertainers frequently associate with the patrons at the club when they are off stage. Informant noted that this could possibly be a violation of a city ordinance which prevents female entertainers from associating with patrons in a night club.

Informant also heard rumors that BALISTRERI will attempt to settle with building contractors who will handle reconstruction of his building at 722 N. Water St. at the rate of 25¢ on the dollar.

EXTREME CAUTION SHOULD BE UTILIZED IN HANDLING ABOVE INFORMATION AND IT SHOULD NOT BE REPORTED IN DETAILS OF A REPORT UNLESS SUITABLY PARAPHRASED TO PROTECT THE IDENTITY OF THIS INFORMANT.

*"Shoe Box Broson" (aka) 162-130

This investigation was opened on information furnished by [redacted] on March 21, 1969 that the basketball line was received in Chicago from, among others, an individual in Milwaukee known as "Shoebox" which name he is alleged to have received from a habit of carrying his gambling paraphernalia in a shoebox when he travelled.

b7D

A review of Chicago File 165-865 indicated the subject is most probably identical with SIDNEY A. BRODSO, also known as "Shoebox", a well known gambler and handi-capper known to the Milwaukee Office.

Since Chicago has no known subscribers to any line being furnished by the subject, no further investigation is being conducted and the above is furnished for the information of the Milwaukee Office.
